Suffrage League Framing Measure Relieving Difficulties of Halfand-half System

The enactment by Congress of a law granting the people of the District a terms self-government for the city, is provided in a measure being framed by the District of Columbia Suffrage League, which will be presented to Congress. Believing that the form of government for the District is too important to the people of Washington to be "handed down" by the powers above, the league has made an extensive study of the question. The league's plan includes the following:

"1. The enactment by Congress of a law granting the people of the District is 1866, when he was retired. He served continuously on the active list until January 3, 1806, when he was retired. He served during the people of the District is 1864, to April $1, 1865, and the served continuously on the active list until January 5, 1806, when he was retired. He served during the civil war, from October 11, 1864, to April $1, 1865, at the time of his retirement for District self-government. Following English precedent, this law might be styled the "District emancipation law." bill of rights," embodying in general

"As to the latier, there is serious objection in Congress to the present half-and-half tax arrangement, partly because it is felt the Federal govern-ment pays too much, but more because of the belief that the government payment now goes too largely to the en-richment of land apeculators. For the government to cut off altogether its contributions is out of the question. On the other hand, we are assured Congress would not now enact for the Union and National Organization Committee Sever Relations.

MRS. FUNK'S STATEMENT

Trouble Due to Removal of Miss Paul from Place During the Recent Convention.

An open breach between the Congress ional Union for Equal Suffrage and the National Woman Suffrage Association the two "votes for women" organizati finally has forced a separation.

It was admitted in a statement last night by Mr Antoinette Funk, of Chicago, chairman of the Gongressional committee of the national organization, in that the two bodies co-operate.

The conflict has been impending the recent convention in this city, when Dr. Anna Shaw ordered the removal of Miss Paul as head of the Congressional committee of the national association. The Congressional Union contends that the action of the national convention in ndorsing the work of the Congre committee and recommending that the same members be asked to serve on the committee for the year 1914 has been ig-

Offered Miss Paul, It Is Said.

It is claimed by the National Woman Suffrage Association that the convention took no such action, but simply recom-mended that another Congressional com-mittee be appointed, whose members were to be chosen at the discretion of the na-tional board, and, further, that Miss Paul was tendered the chairmanship of the committee and declined it. When told yesterday that certain members of the Congressional Union thought the selection of Mrs. Medill McCormick as chairman of the committee in place of Miss Paul was somewhat inconsistent with the recommendation of the conven-tion, Mrs. Funk made the following "The national board of the Nationa

"The national board of the National Women's Suffrage Association decided that the president of the Congressional Union and the chairman of the Congressional Could not be the same person.

"The national board offered the chairmanship to Miss Lazy Burns, Miss Paul's closest friend and worker. Miss Burns said she would accept, provided she could name all the members of the she could name all the members of the Congressional committee and that she would be free to act as she thought best, regardless of the organization she represented, in other words she would not be dictated to by the national organization and in case of disagreement with the national her opinion would

"If Miss Paul is using her best judgment I can only say we are using curs.
"I want to add that in spite of what has happened there are nothing but cordial relations personally existing between the national organization and the Conressional Union, and that the national ody wishes the other nothing but success. We both have the same aim in view. and we have no doubt that the Congressional Union will do much good."
When shown the statement of Mrs.

Vice Presidents.

The new executive board of the Woman's National Democratic League, meeting at the New Willard yesterday, decided to carry on its campaign this year in conjunction with and advised by the National Democratic Committee. This decision was made at the request of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, the honorary presi-

Mrs. Wilson brought the matter to the attention of the league's president, Mrs. William A. Cuilop, several weeks ago, when she intimated that President Wilson and his advisers appreciated the value of the women's influence in the 1912 campaign and were anxious to have their aid in extending the power of the administration by the election of more Democratic members of Congress.

Absolute Harmony Prevails.

Mrs. Cullop presided over the meeting, which was held in the suite of Mrs. W. W. Dixon, widow of the late Senator from Montana, who is one of the ad-ditional directors of the league. The ses-sion was private, but absolute harmony sion was private, but absolute harmony prevailed, according to several of the officers who attended, and there was no discussion of equal suffrage, which has caused dissension in the ranks of the As the first step in this year's cam-
